Class specifications are only intended to present a descriptive summary of the range of duties and responsibilities associated with specified positions. Therefore, specifications may not include all duties performed by individuals within a classification. In addition, specifications are intended to outline the minimum qualifications necessary for entry into the class and do not necessarily convey the qualifications of incumbents within the position.

DEFINITION

To perform a wide variety of general clerical tasks involving typing, filing and providing information and assistance to interested parties; and to do related work as required.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS

Office Assistant I: This is the entry level class in the Office Assistant series. The class is distinguished from Office Assistant II by the performance of the more routine tasks and duties assigned to positions within the series including duties performed according to established procedures and changes in procedures or exceptions to rules explained in detail as they arise. Since this class can be used as a training class, employees may have only limited or no directly related work experience. Certain positions in this class, those that contain primarily routine and less complex tasks, may be permanently assigned to the "I" level.

Office Assistant II: This is the journey level classification in the Office Assistant series. It is distinguished from the Office Assistant I by the performance of the full range of duties as assigned including duties requiring the knowledge of applicable City and department policies and procedures. Employees at this level receive only occasional instruction or assistance as new or unusual situations arise, and are fully aware of the operating procedures and policies of the work unit. Positions in this class are flexibly staffed and are normally filled by advancement from the I level, or when filled from the outside, require prior clerical experience. Appointment to the II level requires that the employee be performing the full range of duties for the class and meets the qualification standards for the class.
